Market Resembles Old Days With Its Changes and Lively Trading.

By Joseph F. Pritchard,
Chicago, Ill., Oct. 18.—The grain markets were of the old time order today, advancing early when the larger holders of wheat, corn and oats filled up all comers and, declining late, forced many of the early buyers out of their position. The market seemed to be natural instead of showing the earmarks of manipulation.
Considerable support of a bullish character was thrown into the wheat pit early, and with the offerings small at that particular time, price gains were but natural. Minneapolls, which had been reporting the flour market dull of late, claimed sales there of 250,000 barrels on domestic and export account. By Joseph F. Pritchard,

Cash transactions here today were 55,000 bushels, and while there were good sales of Manitoba at the seaboard, the amount was not made pub-

Those of the smaller corn traders, who have placed much confidence in the price of that cereal are likely to use caution from now on because of the drubbing they received at the hands of the big in the trade today. Prices shot upward quite sharply early in the day, but they let down more sharply as the day wore away. There was less talk of the Argentine corn coming I sa nemfwyp emfwyp was less talk of the Argentine corn coming I sancmfwyn emfwyn emfw coming In ns a competitor, although it is well known that the United States will be given all that it cares to absorb. Losses were shown in oats from the top prices of about %c, but resting stoats were unchanged to %c higher. Oats were independently firm, refusing to break with the other grains when they were under the greatest pressure.

The provision market cated in symbathy with grain prices today. The buying was scattered and was led by shorts. The cash trade was moderate,

Bulls Carry, Better Prices Will Follow.

By Edward Low Ranlett,
New York, Get, 18.—The cotton market continues strong for no particular reason that can be urged at the moment. Of course, almost any observer can see that should the plans of the Calcutta bulls materialize, the near future promises higher prices, They depend on the small statistics and New York, and the very heavy demand for exports and some consumption, which By Edward Low Ranlett,

York, and the very beavy demand for exports and some consumption, which continues to drain the southern market. Nearly all of this has been more or less used in the market and apart from the being used, its effect is shaping sentiment.

Meanwhile the entire world is taking cotton at nearly or above record proportions and while the crop promises better than it did a few weeks ago, there is nothing like the increase in this promise which could urge holders or buyers to lose count of this.

In the cotton goods division of the dry goods market it would appear that buyers are more anxious than sellers.

dry goods market it would appear that buyers are more anxious than sellers. With strong prices and a good demand for immediate and near future delivery, there is nothing to prevent a very excellent fall trade.

The weather has been better, with less moisture and an improvement in conditions which would permit the picking and the marketing of the crop.

Today's market was reflective of a much more optomistic feeling, with an undertone which seemed to promise better prices in the near future.

Although the undertone during the early session was easy, with declines early session was easy, with declines of from six to ten points, there was quick recovery and a gradual rise in values to above the finals of Friday. The closing was steady at small net

The closing was steady at small net changes.

A little hedge pressure was in evidence during the afternoon and there was an evening up of speculative accounts over the week end. Support came from leading spot houses, and this, together with a more bullish forecast than expected, inspired scattered short covering and caused a hardening in the undertone.

CAN STOCK SHOWS News Brevities

Should Plans of Calcutta Reports of Heavy Buying Abroad Benefit the Copper Issues.

New York, Oct. 18.—A sharp decline in American Can, evidently brought about by manipulation for making short covering in other quarters, was the principal feature of the stock market today. Railroad stocks were gynerally streng during the day and improvement was conspicuous in several specialities that have lately scored heavy losses.

The downward movement in Can was so onealy manipulative that it did not

The downward movement in Can was so openly manipulative that it did not greatly disturb holders of other securities, and while there was a momentary halt in the upward movement which had set in at the opening, other stocks subsequently touched the highest prices of the session.

Union Pacific, Steel, Amalgamated and Reading were among the leaders. The coppers were benefited by reports of heavy foreign buying of the metal, a result of the strike in the Spanish mines. An official denial of the difficulty in Rock Island had a favorable effect.

BOY SCOUTS RETURN FROM INITIAL HIKE

Scouts Camp at Pallsades, Cook Flapjacks, Practice Trailing and Wig-Wagging; Tenderfeet Qualify.

The Boy Scouts, of the Blazing Ar-ow, Tiger Raven and Eagle Patrols and the recruits who left Priday after-and the recruits who left Friday afternoon on the first hike of the season returned Saturday.

The trip was made under the supervision of scout master C. H. Brown.
The boys left the "Y" Friday afternoon and reached their camping place at the Palisades on Mount Franklin, about 6 oclock. Each boy cooked his own supper, after camp was made, and then they sat around the fire and told scout stories before turning in for the night.
After cooking their own breakfast, the tenderfeet scouts were given practice in wigwagging and training, and tice in wigwagging and training, and scout games were played. For a tenderfoot to become a second class scout he has to be able to cook his own camp meals and understand trailing and wigwagging.

Expect to Make Others.

As there are a large number of tenderfeet in the patrols this year, the scouts are expecting to make frequent hikes to the mountains. The boys who made the hike were Ralph Pateman, and Charles Overstreet, first class scouts; Bruce Bevan, second class scout; and Mott Rawling, Richard Warscott, and most frawling, Richard War-ren, Robert Messimer, Fred Humphreys, Cecil Palmer, Hanlon Dubose and Jack Vowell, tenderfeet in the Blazing Ar-row Patrol. George Cross, Dan Mat-thews, Park Bishop, Roy Scotten, Sam Palmer and William Aguirre, tender-feet of the Tiger patrol. Mayo Seamon, Leslie Foliett, Aifred Whitmer, tender-feet of the Raven patrol. Frank Har-ris, Wagner Dawson, Richard Green, Clyde Lee, John Hall and Charlie Dick-inson of the Eagle patrol. Reginald Singleton, Charlie McConn and Henry Baker of the recruits.

Fingineks for Breakfast.

The boys had fingineks for breakfast and after they had learned how to make them Leslie Follett and Alfred Whitmer had such fun flapping flapfachs, that they remained behind, when the boys started out on the homeward trtp, in order to cook some more flapfacks. Finpincks for Breakfast.

Another renirement for the second class scouts is a course in first aid to the injured. This will be started in a very short time.

CLOTHING NEEDED

FOR THE POOR The recent donations of some very excellent clothing for infants reminds the district visiting nurse of the Charity association that she wishes to solicit more, for it is largely with the help of proper and sufficient elothing that she will be able to fight the sicknesses that cold weather is going to bring on in the Mexican settlement.

Little wool stockings and shirts, petticoats, blankets and coats were among these contributions and will be a source of eestasy to several of the mothers of Chihuahuita, she says. One very nice bundle, with new goods for making a cradle comfort, was made up for an American mother. Her pleas-

With the temporary return of warm weather, a great many cases of diarrhoea have come into the clinic, and also the usual number of miscelllaneous cases. One mother whose only child was peril-ously ill with bronchitis and who did not know be the control of the not know how to give it relief, was greatly helped by consecutive visits and treatments. Constant efforts are made to get these women to observe the simpler rules of sanitation,

A good deal of disinfectant is distributed, fly screens are used and the burning of rubbish is encouraged throughout the Mexican section of the

The burden of poverty, sickness and sorrow grows just a little heavier with the coming in of every new Mexican family, and when they go out on work gangs to other states, or other parts of Texas, they carry with them these bur-dens and perils, and for that reason the Charity association favors immediate deportation, and its efforts are coincided with by the immigration bureau, and some have been returned to Mexico.

ARAB'S VISIT IN LONDON STIES TTALIAN GOVERNMENT Rome, Italy, Oct. 18.—The fact that Suliman El Baroni, the Arab chief who formed a provisional government in Tripoll when the Turks withdrew, and who carried on the war against the Italians, has been in London, eagaged in negotiations relating to the fature government of his country, has caused the Italian government some concern, and representations have been made to the British foreign office, which is believed will prevent El Baroni from accomplishing anything in England to the detriment of Italian interests in Africa.

It is reported officially that the pacification of the new African possessions is going on stendily and satisfactorily.
